

News Service, Navsari (Gujarat): Learning from the Barwala village tragedy, Gujarat's village has decided to voluntarily implement liquor prohibition strictly. A delegation of the villagers led by village pramukh A.Z. Rathod submitted a letter to the district superintendent of police requesting for help in implementing the prohibition in the village. Villagers passed a resolution in which it was resolved that no one will manufacture, sell or drink country liquor, nor will anyone convert IMFL into the village, neither sell nor purchase. The pramukh told the media, "There are many people who are drinking country liquor every day. People buy and drink liquor. Every day at least seven to eight youths die because of liquor prohibition. And, all social and economic problems fall on the village, this issue is a very serious one, needs to be addressed. So this decision has been taken by the village." S.K. Rai, Navsari Deputy Superintendent of Police, said, "Villagers from Telada had paid a visit to me requesting for our support. I have assured them that police patrolling will be increased in the village. Police will raid liquor dens and ensure liquor does not flow in the village."
